Public To See Prince in New Life

In days of strain and stress for the world, and especially for the empire, the public will be glad to see the Prince of Wales, the future King of the United Kingdom, in his new life.

By MILTON BRONNER
British Foreign Editor
LONDON, Jan. 30.—When death came for King George V., and Edward VIII. automatically became King of England, death came also to another world figure. That was the slim, boyish-looking sportsman and globe-trotter known to a generation of newspaper readers as the Prince of Wales.

In due time the man who has held that title for almost 20 years, will be duly crowned. "Our only lawful and rightful liege lord Edward VIII. by the Grace of God King of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British Territories beyond the Seas, Defender of the Faith, and Emperor of India."

Then the Prince of Wales will follow his dead father, in becoming his son, there is an extraordinary deviation and affection. Contrary to many previous kings who have been impatient for power, Edward has always been eager to perform, and the list of obligations laid down for him is long.

Part of the reluctance undoubtedly comes from realization that according to the throne must be the chief of being a lone eagle, and becoming a bird in a caged cage.

FRINCHLY DUTY LEFT TIME FOR HIS OWN AMUSEMENT
A Prince of Wales, of course, Edward was never a man who had to have more freedom than his father. As prince he had many public duties to perform, and the list of obligations laid down for him is long.

MURDER, Suicide
HOBOKEN, N.J., Jan. 30.—Paul D. B. St. Louis, 30, was shot by a woman, police said, and plunged to his death from the window of his third floor apartment Wednesday.

Church bells throughout all England signalled the birth of King Edward VIII. early on June 20, 1894, at White Lodge, Richmond.

A short time previously his father, Prince George, and his grandfather, the Prince of Wales, had passed the floor just as ordinary fathers do.

A speeding horseman first brought the news to the neighboring countryside, although the glad tidings had been telegraphed to London.

King Edward VIII in the arms of his father, the late King George V, who was then Prince George.

One of the first to visit the new royal baby at Windsor was his great-grandmother, old Queen Victoria, to whom he soon became a favorite.

The child who was destined to reign over some 450,000,000 subjects was named Edward Albert Christian George Andrew Patrick David.

Trained from infancy to be a king, the prince with the golden curls often plays the infantile things he could do upon the throne.

EDWARD VIII

before him each morning was a long one. Much of his time was not his own. But there were still left many hours and days which he could enjoy like any other Englishman of means.

He could go off to Melton Nowley, and without any fuss or feathers follow the Belvoir hounds, though even then his pleasure has been denied him in recent years, when he has been called to the front by his military duties.

AS KING EDWARD, HIS LIFE BECOMES "CEREMONY"
At that time the prince was with his father, King George V, and his grandfather, the Prince of Wales, he can do as king.

The king may not indulge in any sports in which there is danger of injury to himself.

When he visits the home of a friend, it is a royal procession of state.

When he goes to the theatre he must be rigid and quiet in the royal box.

The king may not go quietly to the Embassy club for an afternoon of dancing. The king may not be taken to a party where he is not invited.

TRAVELS GAVE THE PRINCE WIDE KNOWLEDGE OF PEOPLE
The king leaves behind him the advantage that he has a wide knowledge of the world and of people, and that he has a wide knowledge of the world and of people.

WILL PREVENT REPETITION OF DISTURBANCES

Unfortunate Events At King's Funeral Will Be Used as Guide

LONDON, Jan. 30.—British officials, criticized because 10,000 persons were injured among the throngs gathered to watch King George's funeral, moved Wednesday to prevent repetition of such incidents at London's next large gathering.

The Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal who was in charge of the funeral procession, and police commissioner Sir Philip Game asked police superintendents to take precautions along the procession's route to submit reports.

It was believed the officials expected to plan police coverage for a similar crowd at King George's coronation next year.

RAPID INFLUX
The use of the railway station for Tuesday's disturbances was considered to be the rapid influx of spectators from outlying sections of the city.

Subway buses and other transportation facilities poured 2,000,000 persons into the city. It was pointed out that the vast throngs arrived before noon while arrival of a similar number on Jubilee day was spread over 10 hours.

PLATE OF REPAIR

Would Use Men On Civic Reliefists On Work-Vage Basis

Proposal of Ald. W. W. Cleveley Placed Before City Council and Referred to the Special Relief Committee for Report.

Proposal by Ald. W. W. Cleveley that men on relief be put to work on rehabilitating city-owned buildings in a state of disrepair and that such a scheme be carried out under a work-vage program was placed before an adjourned meeting of city council Wednesday night and referred to council's special relief committee for a further report.

Speaking in his recommendation Ald. Cleveley said a large number of city-owned buildings were in bad condition and he suggested that relief cases be put to work rehabilitating them. "We could get at a rate which would not conflict with legitimate business in other words, men with jobs would not leave them to do relief work," he said.

EXTRA CASH
Ald. Cleveley believed that unemployed could do labor for the amount of the allowances they were receiving and that a minor extra sum of cash could be paid by the city.

Reporting such as long, Ald. E. J. Jas. declared that as plan, it would give a good standard of living to the city could expect some relief from the unemployment problem. "I am not making a record of living off of the city," he said.

OPPOSED DEBT
While agreeing that a work-vage program was needed, Ald. Jas. did not support any plan which would increase the city's debt. In the past the city had borrowed large sums of money to launch such programs.

Ald. Chas. Gould felt it would be wise to consider Ald. Cleveley's scheme and investigate the cost of the proposed program.

Pioneer Engineer Quits His Job After 46 Years Pounding Railway Steel

Locomotive 1328, hauling the Canadian National train from Athabaska, panted into Edmonton Thursday afternoon, exhausted great clouds of steam into the chill air and groaned to a stop.

Engineer Walter McCallum took a final look at his cab, wiped his eyes and then he stepped down the ladder. For 46 years he had been a locomotive engineer, and now he was quitting.

The incident added to other occasions on which "crazy" drivers raged their train to level crossings, filled Mr. McCallum with a quite natural dislike for all motor-vehicle drivers.

WALTER McCallum, veteran "hogger" on Canadian National Railway, stepped out of the locomotive cab for the last time. He had been a locomotive engineer from Athabaska Thursday afternoon. He had been in service for the past 46 years.

COMMON SENSE RULES COSTS

Common sense will govern the costs of operating provincial schools under the proposed new school bill declared Premier William Abernethy on Thursday in commenting upon this phase of the legislation which is expected to be introduced at the session opening on Thursday next.

As an illustration of how costs will work out, the Premier said that the purchase of a good office building consisting of 70 school districts. Each of these pays, let us say $50 a year for the purchase of a good office building and $5 to its auditor. A total for the district of $500. In the first year of operation that sum would be paid for the purchase of a good office building and $5 to its auditor. In the second year, there would be no more payment for the purchase of a good office building, but the cost of the building could either be returned to the people in reduced rail rates or by other means.

Engineer McCallum had his close shave. In Ontario, his freight train came booming across the bridge and he was a huge burden of a few hundred yards down the line. There wasn't a chance to stop. The engine hurtled across the bridge but the blazing structure sagged under the weight of the train. Luckily, the coupling broke, and the engine and the first car broke—the train pulled to a halt but the engine was safe on the other side.

In retiring from the service he

CHIEF CONSTABLE A. G. SHUTE, police commissioner, is a very desirable thing. He has tried it here in some schools and found that it was quite satisfactory. ## South Side Boasts Good Average For Game With Regina

CALGARY HOCKEY PLAYERS LEAD

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 30. — Two former Calgary puckists were blazing the roaring trail in the International Hockey League. Thin-haired Billy Hudson, now starring with the Pittsburgh Shamrocks, was in front with 37 points, while next in line was another Calgarian, Vic Ripley, now with Cleveland Falcons, with 26.

CAN SOUTH GO GAMET

North made a third hand opening bid of 1 No Trump. When South bid 3 Spades, his partner bid 4 Spades. The opening lead was the Q of clubs.

♠ K 10 9
♥ A 7 4
♦ A 10 2
♣ K 10 8 5

♠ J K 8 3      ♠ A 7 8
 ♥ 7 6 3      ♠ 10 6 2
 ♦ Q J 9 6      ♠ K Q 9 4
                  ♠ A 7 3 2
                  ♠ S.

♠ A Q J 6 5 4 3
 ♥ Q 10 5
 ♦ J 8 5
 ♣ None

Cover the opening lead with dummy's K of clubs, that will lose to East's ace unless ruffed by declarer. South must ruff. The declaring side has a slight trump advantage. Dummy's two led Aces. Declarer cannot expect to pick up his added trick in diamonds, with both K and Qing back of the ace. The most logical way to pick up

1-♥EJ      7-♣J9
2-♥KJ      8-♦7      ♠J98
3-♥KJ8      9-♣J98

4-♥KJ8    ♦7    ♣J9
 8-♥KJ83    ♣J9
 6-♥KJ    ♣J964

Take types 1, 2 and 8, wherein each is just two hearts. Win with dummy's ace of hearts. Give West his K of hearts. Later on West must put dummy in lead, then declarer may take a added heart trick for game.

Type 3 will be handled differently by declarer. Lead a diamond. West must discard, either

West lets go a heart, take the Ace of that suit, then give West his K. Later the declaring side must win another heart trick and also a club trick. West lets go a club, instead of a heart, from type 2 holding. West will lead a club and given two tricks. Therefore, later West must lead hearts and declarer will go game.

With type 5 holding dummy will be entered with its diamond. West will give his two club tricks, then he can put declarer in a position of having to lead hearts. Defenders should not allow to defeat 4 Spades.
